

Break the Silence: Kids Against Child Abuse VHS/VIDEO

Each day, more than 7,000 cases of child abuse are reported. For each case filed, its estimated that thousands more remain hidden behind a wall of silence. Break the Silence: Kids Against Child Abuse is a documentary for kids and their parents. With the help of animation, four young child abuse survivors tell what happened to them and how they got help. The film provides practical information on what kids and their parents can do to stop and prevent child abuse, and delivers a clear and simple message: For child abuse to stop, you have to tell an adult you trust. Break the Silence: Kids Against Child Abuse is a follow-up to Arnold Shapiros internationally acclaimed documentary, Scared Silent: Exposing and Ending Child Abuse.
