David Copperfield, Parts 19 & 20 (of 20). November 1850.: A Facsimile of the the First Edition as it appeared in monthly parts. (The Personal History, ... The Younger of Blunderstone Rookery.)

Described by Dickens as his favourite child, David Copperfield is, in many respects, the story of Dickens himself although he wrote that I really think I have done it ingeniously, and with a complicated interweaving of truth and fiction. Some of the best-known characters in literature populate the pages of this great work. Uriah Heep, Micawber, Steerforth, Betsy Trotwood, and many others play key roles in David Copperfield's journey of self-discovery. This is regarded by most lovers of Dickens work as his masterpiece. Charles Dickens published most of his works in monthly parts before they appeared in book form. This is an exact and high quality facsimile of the original monthly Parts 19 and 20 (final double issue) of David Copperfield as it was published in November 1850. All of the original Victorian advertisements and announcements are included even the most rare. It provides a genuinely unique insight into Victorian England. Like the original, the Part includes a four-page blue/green wrapper, with three of the wrapper pages containing advertisements. There are 64 pages of text from the novel and four plates of illustration by Hablot Knight Browne (Phiz), as well as 16 pages of Copperfield Advertiser and a further 23 pages of other announcements and advertisements. This final double Part also includes all the pages, known as Preliminary Leaves, that would have been necessary to republish the Parts in book format, should the original purchaser have required to do so:- Half Title; Title-page; Dedication; Preface; Contents; List of Plates; Errata. All of the 20 Parts of David Copperfield are available in Kindle format.
