Justin knows hes a lucky guy. He might live with his parents and work at their winery, but hes an omega living in a community of alphas and omegas. He doesnt have to hide who he is, hes got a great job doing something that he loves and he lives in some of the most beautiful country in the world. The problem is that once Aaron, a local alpha, declared his interest, none of the other local alphas were willing to get in Aarons way. It doesnt matter that Justins not interested in Aaron; as long as Aaron refuses to take Justins no for an answer, Justin will have to stay single. When an injured alpha staggers in, carrying a small child with him, Justin isnt thinking about mating or about Aaron. He thinks that Eric is someone who needs help. Eric has escaped something terrible down in West Virginia, and lost his mate in the process. If Justin gets a little attached, thats only natural. When Aarons jealousy starts to endanger Eric and his child, will Justin have to make a desperate choice to save them? This is a non-shifter alpha/omega mpreg gay romance book.
