

Moonshine

They've shed the skin of that horrible former life. It's a new house and a new beginning with no substance issues. Madeline couldn't be happier with the blossoming stability and contentment, until... until that happiness ends with the discovery of an old moonshine still behind her house. A vivid reminder of the suffering they all endured. She summons the authorities to have the rusted cauldron removed. It's filled with a rotting liquid that might poison them all. The effort sets off a series of events that will change her life, and the world, forever.
